A caring man who would do anything for anybody

Pregnant wife's tribute to rugby player who died after collapsing during game

By William Mata

william.mata@hertsexnews.co.uk

RUGBY player Dean Read, who died last month, was a "kind and caring man", says his widow.

Lucy Read is expecting the couple's first child and has paid tribute to the Harlow Rugby Club star who passed away aged 26 after collapsing in a game on Saturday, November 5.

She also thanked the community for raising thousands in donations which will be used to support the upbringing of the baby, due in March.

Popular

Mrs Read, who married Dean in May last year, said: "He was a popular, kind and caring man who loved rugby. He would do anything for anyone."

"He was well loved by people. It was just a tragic event and it is still unbelievable to us. We are just trying to get by."

"I have not thought about the future really. The only thing I am thinking about in the future is our baby."

Mr Read was a photocopier engineer who worked in central London and met his future wife ten years ago when they were studying at Harlow College.

He was playing for the club's second team, known as the Rams, who were comprehensively winning against Maldon when it became clear he needed medical help.

He was rushed to Basildon Hospital to receive emergency treatment for what turned out to be a fatal artery rupture. Around 350 people attended his funeral at Parndon Wood Crematorium in Harlow.

After his death, well-wishers established online campaigns to raise money for the family. A JustGiving page has now raised £7,000 and a GoFundMe page £1,200.

Chris Davies, of Rundells, Harlow, a friend of Mr and Mrs Read, started the JustGiving page.

On this Mrs Read commented: "It was a surprise. It was really nice of Chris to do that and we are very grateful."

Mr Davies said: "It went really well. I was not doing it to raise money and get people patting me on the back but to help as much as I could."

"Me and Dean were close, but not close enough for me to go round and give support in that way."

The pair played together for LARGE crowds gathered in Market Square yesterday when Coca-Cola's Christmas Truck pulled up.

Harlow is one of 44 locations the lorry is stopping at on its nationwide tour during advent.

The Christmas Truck is famous for featuring in Coca-Cola's annual festive advertisements to the soundtrack of the song Holidays Are Coming. For many, seeing the advert is the unofficial start of Christmas.

Hundreds gathered as staff handed out cans of Coca-Cola, Diet Coke and Coke Zero while music played and an animation was shown.

Event organisers advertised the event to take place from 1pm to 9pm, but eager residents came down much earlier and took photos of the lorry.

By mid-afternoon a large queue had formed along East Gate.

Harlow PC Josh Haase tweeted: "The residents of Harlow are out in full force to support the cause for Christmas. What better way of showing a positive police presence?"

GET IN: Free drinks were handed out

Sarah Calder of Harlow Citizens Advice, whose office overlooks Market Square, wrote on Twitter: "There is much excitement at the arrival of the Coca-Cola Truck in the town centre #holidaysarecoming."

Mr Davies, now 27, frequently played alongside Mr Read who was often promoted beyond his years, thanks to his ability on the field.

He continued: "I was only expecting the lads on the team to put into it but it took on a life of its own."

"Lucy said she looked through the messages and saw that Maldon players supported it a lot. It is nice to see the rugby family will support anyone. You can be knocking each other for 80 minutes and still go for a beer after the game."

Mr Davies said his friend was a friendly man off the pitch and would inspire his team-mates on it with his never say die attitude.

He added: "He put in 110 per cent every time."

"He was just there week in week out and put everything into it. I do not think the Rams could have done as well without him. He geed everyone up."

"He and Lucy made me and my wife feel comfortable, and he did not have a bad word to say about anyone."

"He was always smiling and that put everyone at ease."

Pizzeria grabs slice of action at awards

Takeaway is named one of the best in the country

CAFE Pizzeria staff were delighted the restaurant was named one of Britain's best takeaways, despite missing out on the top prize.

The eatery in Bush Fair, Harlow, came second in the Just Eat British Takeaway Awards for the East of England after being named a finalist for the second year running.

There was also celebration as Cafe Pizzeria's Dave Palmer picked up the prize for Best Delivery Driver In Britain. Master Chef in Luton was named the best takeaway in the East of England, and then named the best in the country.

Staff from the takeaway were thrilled to meet Ready Steady Cook star Ainsley Harriott and TV funnyman Rob Brydon at the awards ceremony. Clare Cam, 28, co-manager of Cafe Pizzeria, said: "It is an amazing event hosted at The Savoy Hotel and it is lovely for the whole team to come. We do work hard to produce the best takeaways we can."

"At first it was disappointing not to win as we were there as finalists last year too. But we will certainly try again, maybe it will be third time lucky."

Ankara

Her father and cafe owner Mehmet Cam featured in the Star earlier this year after he cycled to Ankara, capital of his native Turkey, from Harlow to raise funds for St Clare Hospice.

Mrs Cam added: "It has been a busy year for us, but this is a lovely way to end the year. They gave him (Mehmet) a mention at the beginning, which was nice."

Cafe Pizzeria specialise in Italian cuisine and was nominated by residents, clearly impressed with their service, and then inspected by a Just Eat secret shopper.

Meanwhile, Mr Palmer has been working with Cafe Pizzeria for a year and demonstrated a classy customer service to be named deliverer of the year.

The 25-year-old, of The Hornbeams, Harlow, said: "I never in a million years thought I was going to win. It is just sinking in now."

"It was all a bit of a blur. I had been joking about it with customers, but I did not believe I was going to win."

He explained: "I had to be friendly, happy, able to deal with any problems and be customer focused to be nominated."

"I was disappointed for the cafe because I know how good they are."

Teen from town charged with manslaughter in connection with death that shocked nation

A TEENAGER has been charged with manslaughter after the death of a Polish man in Harlow that shocked the nation.

Arkadiusz Jozwik, 40, was assaulted at about 11.35pm on Saturday, August 27, in The Stow.

He was taken to the Princess Alexandra Hospital, and was later transferred to Addenbrooke's Hospital in Cambridge, where he died on Monday, August 29.

The Crown Prosecution Service authorised Essex Police to charge a 15-year-old boy from Harlow on Thursday, December 1. The teenager cannot be named for legal reasons.

Essex Police launched a murder investigation after the incident but the charge has been lessened.

The force arrested six teenagers in the aftermath but all were released apart from the teen who has now been charged.

Senior investigating officer, detective inspector Danny

Stoten of the Kent and Essex Serious Crime Directorate, said: "The Crown Prosecution Service has now authorised Essex Police to charge a teenager with manslaughter in connection with the death of Mr Jozwik."

"He is due to appear at Chelmsford Youth Court on January 6, 2017."

IN BRIEF

Lions' fair to help sick girl

HARLOW: A teenage girl from the town will be helped by the proceeds of Harlow Lions Club's Victorian Christmas Fair.

The event, held at St John's Arts and Recreation Centre, in St John's Walk, Harlow, raised £1,000 towards the care of Ellie Darby-Prangnell, who has spinal muscular atrophy.

Fifteen-year-old Ellie, of Halling Hill, is wheelchair bound and in regular need of lengthy admissions to hospital. The money will also be used to buy hampers for elderly residents in Harlow.

Man in court

HARLOW: A man will be sentenced next week for possessing a number of indecent images of children, extreme pornographic material and images of bestiality.

Ian Jackson, 64, of Green Hills, pleaded guilty at Chelmsford Magistrates Court last month to three charges. He downloaded the images between January 2012 and December 2015.

Jackson will be sentenced at Chelmsford Crown Court on Thursday, December 15.

Carol concert

HARLOW: The Princess Alexandra Hospital NHS Trust is inviting all to a Christmas carol concert in the town.

The Hospital and Community Christmas Celebration will be held at St Paul's Church, College Square, Harlow, on Wednesday, December 14, at 5.30pm.

Visitors can expect mince pies and mulled wine alongside songs from The Downs Primary School and St James' Primary School.

Lottery draw

HASTINGWOOD: St Clare Hospice has paid two people their winnings from this week's lottery draw.

A Loughton resident picked up the £1,000 jackpot with the number 31645 and a Potters Bar resident won £75 with the number 14319.

The rollover has not been won and stands at £5,200. The charity uses the lottery to help raise money towards its care service.

RUNNERS braved frosty temperatures and the indignity of wearing a Father Christmas outfit to raise funds in the St Clare Hospice's Santa Dash.

One hundred and sixty started the 5k or one-mile events, sponsored by The Grown Up Chocolate Company, at The Water Gardens before running to Harlow Town Park and looping back around towards the town centre.

Proceeds were gratefully collected by the Hastingwood-based charity, which provides palliative care to those with terminal or life-limiting illnesses.

Organisers are hoping to gather £10,000 to run the centre on Christmas Day and have already collected more than £3,000.

Cheryl Armitage, St Clare's director of income generation, said: "The Santa Dash was an absolutely amazing way to kick-start the Christmas season and get the whole of Harlow feeling festive."

"We would like to say a huge thank you to each and every person who took part, as well as the volunteers and marshals that helped the event run smoothly."

Fourteen-year-old Ben Sloan pipped his twin brother and fellow Woodford Green Running Club member Sam to win the 5k run in 18:10.

Another pair of brothers, Archie and Henry Turner, started the event having lost their mother in late 2013. St Clare provided care towards the end of her life.

Star editor Julie Palmer cheered runners as they crossed

Ms Palmer said: "It may have been cold and early but there was honestly nothing I would rather have done on a Sunday morning than support St Clare Hospice's Santa Dash."

Council is 'sorry' for rubbish at Willowfield

HARLOW Council has apologised to residents of Willowfield Tower after a large amount of rubbish piled up alongside bins.

A problem with the recycling vehicle led to containers outside the block in Willowfield, Harlow, being missed off the round during a collection last week.

Samantha Limby, a resident of the block, said: "There is nowhere to put any more rubbish.

"We also have bins inside the block that smell so bad and there are always bags over the floor.

"There is not enough room for everyone's rubbish.

Eyesore

"I have seen people who do not live here coming into our block and fly-tipping.

"There is not enough recycling places around.

"I cannot even have friends round as it is such an eyesore. I am ashamed to say I live here."

Ms Limby brought attention to her plight by sharing an image of piled-up rubbish on Facebook group Spotted In Harlow.

In response, a spokesman from Harlow Council said: "We are sorry as there was a problem with the usual recycling the use of the bins in this area to see if any extra recycling bins are needed in the future.

"Missed waste and recycling bins can be reported direct to the council at www.harlow.gov.uk/report. "All missed bin reports are investigated and checks are put in place to ensure that the bins do not get missed again in follow-up weeks."

Update on Anglia Level Crossing Proposals

Over the past few years Network Rail has been working hard to better manage its level crossings and the risks they pose. We have developed proposals to manage the possible closure and changes to public rights of way at around 130 level crossings in Anglia.

We would like to make you aware of changes to the proposals for some of the level crossings in the programme, following the receipt of feedback during the public consultations held in September / October.

Proposals for the following level crossings have been significantly updated: E02 Camps & E03 Sadlers, E04 Parndon Mill, E11 Windmills, E20 Snivellers, E27 Puddle Dock & E28 Whipps Farmers, E45 Great Bentley Station & E46 Lords No.1 and E52 Golden Square. Details of the changes are available on the project website: www.networkrail.co.uk/anglialevelcrossings. Please note, proposals for other level crossings in the programme are unchanged or have minor modifications only.

If you do not have access to the internet, please contact the Network Rail helpline (03457 11 41 41) or write to Network Rail free of charge by putting FREEPOST ANGLIA LEVEL CROSSING PROPOSALS on the envelope, and including a return address to obtain further details.

Allegations of child abuse in Essex football

Police promise 'thorough investigation'

By William Mata

william.mata@hertsessexnews.co.uk

ALLEGATIONS about non-recent child sexual abuse within football clubs have been made in Essex.

Essex Police has confirmed individuals have come forward to report abuse in the county and that all allegations will be investigated. The force could not confirm which clubs were involved nor how many complaints had been logged.

Nationwide, 350 victims have reported past child sexual abuse within football clubs and a statement from the National Police Chiefs' Council said a "significant number of calls" have been made from ex-players.

A spokesman from Essex Police said: "We need those who have been the victim of child sexual abuse to report it to the police.

"We will listen, take the allegations seriously and a thorough investigation will be launched no matter how long ago the abuse may have taken place. We also urge anyone who may have any information regarding child sexual abuse to come forward.

"When allegations are reported, it enables police to assess whether there are current safeguarding risks and ensure appropriate action is taken."

Children's charity the NSPCC last week established a hotline dedicated to helping victims of sexual abuse which has received 860 calls in seven days.

Peter Wanless, chief executive of the NSPCC, said: "The number of high-profile footballers bravely speaking out about their ordeal has rightly caught the attention of the entire country.

"We've had a staggering surge in calls to our football helpline which reveals the worrying extent of abuse that had been going on within the sport.

"Anyone who wants to contact us can do so in confidence, with the knowledge they will be listened to and supported. In future footballers, both young players and former athletes, must have the confidence to open up about sexual abuse and feel able to come forward."

Harlow Citizens Advice sets record

CITIZENS Advice in Harlow handled 14,000 issues in 2015/16, which is a new record for the East Gate service.

Alison-Jane Sanger, interim chief executive, reported the rise at the group's annual general meeting last week. Benefits, debt and housing are the three issues most reported.

Ms Sanger said: "We have seen a record number of people this year, from all walks of life, with a myriad of problems and issues that we have helped with.

"We in Harlow alone handled more than £850,000 worth of debt and that's only one strand of our service.

"We help any person who comes to us, with any problem."

Rise in homelessness becomes 'increasingly serious' for town

Numbers in temporary accommodation up significantly over the past two years

By William Mata

william.mata@hertssexnews.co.uk

HOMELESSNESS has been described as "increasingly serious", in Harlow after council figures revealed the extent of the problem.

The number of individuals in temporary accommodation (TA) has consistently risen in the past two years, according to Harlow Council data, with 199 seeking TA in September.

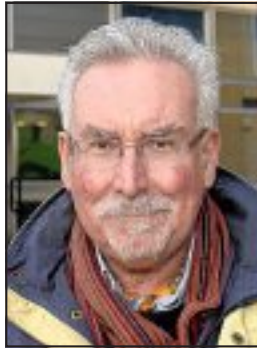

Last month the Star reported that a formerly homeless man had described the issue as "Harlow's hidden problem", while town charity Streets2Homes reported an increase in people seeking help.

Response

In response, Harlow Labour councillor Mike Danvers, portfolio holder for resources, said: "Homelessness is an increasingly serious problem."

"It is caused by an often tragic interplay between people's personal circumstances and wider external factors over which they have little or no control."

"These include a lack of affordable housing, changes to benefits, closure of facilities that support the vulnerable or a combination

CONCERN: Mike Danvers says the problem is increasingly serious

COMMENT: Cllr Mike Wilkinson says there is a housing shortage of all of these."

Harlow Council provides a place of shelter if temperatures reach 3°C or lower for three consecutive nights but there is no funding for a permanent shelter in the town.

A recent estimate put the number of town rough sleepers at 20, which is a slight increase from 2015. However, homelessness can include people without a permanent house or apartment.

In June 2014, 131 individuals sought refuge in temporary accommodation, a figure which has consistently risen almost every quarterly period since. This rise is in line with a national increase in homelessness.

Meanwhile a member of staff at Harlow College recently appealed for bedding after a student found himself homeless.

A spokesman said he has now found accommodation and bedding collected was donated to Streets2Homes.

Labour councillor Mark Wilkinson, portfolio holder for housing, said: "It is no secret that there is a serious shortage of council housing so we have to allocate housing to those most in need in accordance with current laws."

He said groups prioritised for TA are: Those with dependent children, mental illness, the elderly and disabled.

"No-one wants to see anyone sleeping on the streets and we understand and share the concern residents feel," added Mr Wilkinson, who praised Streets2Homes, a charity partly funded by the council.

"The Harlow Homeless Partnership (a body set up to tackle town homelessness) is in the process of putting together a bid for Government funding to help those at imminent risk of sleeping rough or new rough sleepers."

The outcome of the bid will be known next month.

Mr Wilkinson continued: "The Government is also looking to introduce new measures as part of the Homelessness Reduction Bill which may mean councils will need to provide additional support to prevent homelessness and help people sleeping rough."

■ HELP NEEDED

Body language expert needed

I WONDERED if you could help me a friend has been trying for three weeks to find someone who can do body language reading from a photo but has had no luck.

We are trying to find maybe an association that could give a phone number of any one in Harlow that may do it.

She has emailed several people including a national newspaper. Any help you maybe able to give would be appreciated.

■ BREXIT

Another sulk from remainer

In his letter on Brexit (Letters Dec 1) Mr Stephen Archer tells us that the best long-term future for the people of Harlow is to stay in the EU.

He offers us this advice despite the fact that the best experienced international economic experts have come to no such conclusion.

He also ignores the decisions of major prominent international companies to stay in this country, and that trade deals worldwide are already being lined up by the government.

Mr Archer comes over in his letter as another sulking Remainer, with no faith in Britain or the British people, and who feels that to be governed by foreign politicians is Utopia.

R G Beale

We haven't left the EU yet

WITH reference to S.Archer, I've two main points.

Firstly, we have not actually left the EU yet, and will not do so for two years, in case you weren't sure, so any economic argument made now, is applicable to our membership of the EU now.

Secondly in 2015 a referendum bill was passed by parliament including Corbyn, to validate the referendum result as legal and binding. It was not "advisory" it was final, you say this because you lost.

If you have a photograph you

17.5 million people voted to leave the EU, the largest ever vote for anything in the UK's democratic history, presumably Mr Archer and the rest of the Westminster liberal elite are prepared to ignore the will of the people, this is a very dangerous thing to do, fortunately it won't happen, we will be leaving the EU and the sooner Mr Archer, and his like, accepts defeat gracefully, the better for all of us.

■ GIVING THANKS

Give thanks to public servants

AS WE move into the festive period I would like to take the opportunity to thank members of the emergency services for their continued hard work and dedication.

At a time when most of us are relaxing and enjoying ourselves ambulance drivers, police officers and fire workers are working doubly hard to keep us safe.

That's not to mention of course the hard working members of Princess Alexandra Hospital, particularly the A&E department who will be working throughout the festive period.

Once again thank you for all you do. Your hard work and efforts are genuinely appreciated.

Chris Vince
Labour Police and Crime
Commissioner Candidate for Essex 2016

Thanks to staff who saved life

LAST year I contracted a life-threatening condition called septic shock.

I would have surely died had it not been for the very professional and caring treatment of Our Princess Alexandra Hospital to whom I am incredibly grateful.

On Monday, November 28, I was again admitted into Our Princess Alexandra Hospital with a heart attack.

The response from the Paramedics through to A&E, to the Cardiology Departments and all the nurses, auxiliary staff, through to the Team of Doctors and Consultants was quite simply phenomenal. And, again, saved my life.

The Princess Alexandra Hospital took me in when they literally had no beds and had to create a Ward from within A&E.

They not only saved my life but also showed me how they care for patients like myself, and I thought that was really highly exceptional.

If any private or public organisation wants to know how people work effectively as a team, and make the most from very limited resources, they just need to visit the Princess Alexandra Hospital in Harlow for an example.

Their operational skills are of the highest standards, beyond any question.

The incredible thing here is that I had two different life threatening ailments, being treated by different Departments within Princess Alexandra Hospital, at different times, but with the same high standards of professionalism and quality of care.

We need as a town to show the same love, care and protection to the Princess Alexandra Hospital, as it shows to us in Harlow and beyond.

Thank you so much Princess Alexandra Hospital, I love you all.

'Theory' - no basis in science

WOLFGANG Pauli once described an article written by another physicist as "not even wrong", and I think that this is an apt characterisation of the "Law of Attraction" promoted on the front page of the December 1 edition of the Harlow Star (Mum finds a way to bust her ghost fears).

There is no credible evidence to support the "Law of Attraction".

A scientific theory that is wrong at least has the merit of being an actual scientific theory, but the "Law of Attraction" does not qualify as a scientific theory. It provides no grounds on which it can ever be falsified.

It cannot be used to make predictions that can be compared with observations to test if it is correct.

For the Star to describe the "Law of Attraction" as a "theory" is to dignify it with a label that it does not deserve. Even to call it "speculation" would be to give speculation a bad name.

The "Law of Attraction" is an incoherent regurgitated mishmash of half-heard and misunderstood ideas.

I have no doubt that most advocates of "New Thought philosophy" and the "Law of Attraction" are happy to make use of television sets, computers, mobile telephones, satellite navigation devices, X-ray machines, MRI scanners, and other fruits of modern scientific understanding.

Yet the ideas they promote contradict the very principles upon which these things are based.

Wolfgang Pauli won a Nobel Prize in Physics for his Exclusion Principle, which states that no two electrons in an atom can occupy the same quantum state, and provides part of the explanation for the fact that the ground beneath our feet supports our own weight.

It beggars belief to suggest that the scientifically illiterate charlatans who came up with the "Law of Attraction" have overthrown the prevailing paradigm in physics.

Hannah to hold special Sunday Singalong for Alzheimer's cause

Plight of her nan prompts Harlow woman to stage special event at The Herald

A WOMAN from Harlow is preparing to hold a special Sunday Singalong in aid of the Alzheimer's Society.

Hannah Hood, 30, is fundraising for her nan, Beatrice Hood, 85, who has had Alzheimer's for years and is receiving care at Tye Green Lodge.

"No-one truly knows when it started but she is now a shell of the person she used to be," explained Miss Hood.

"It has come to the stage that she doesn't recognise anyone anymore."

Tablets

"She is on so many tablets to stop her from hurting herself and those that care for her."

"I can't stand to think that one day I might be like that – a zombie compared to the person I am today."

Speaking of the life of her nan and grandad, Miss Hood revealed that her grandfather, Norman Hood, looked after his wife for the 65 years that they were married until he could no longer care for her and reluctantly agreed for Mrs Hood to go into a home.

CLOSE TOGETHER: Beatrice and Norman in happier times

After Mrs Hood's move to a care home, Mr Hood became seriously unwell and the family were faced with the decision of turning off his life support machine.

On the day the family were set to say their goodbyes, Miss Hood's grandfather amazingly woke up and often asked to see his wife.

Yet due to his wheelchair and poor health, this was not always possible.

However, Miss Hood's grandparents were eventually reunited when a room at Mrs Hood's care home became available.

"By this time, nan was sleeping a lot due to her medication but they managed to get her in to see my grandad a couple of times within the week he was there," said Miss Hood.

"The first time he recognised her and used her maiden name – she didn't recognise him."

"The second time, they recognised each other and my nan got on my grandad's bed to hug him and gave him a kiss on the cheek."

HAPPY COUPLE: Beatrice and Norman were married for 65 years.

"It was that night my grandad passed away."

Mr Hood died in 2015, aged 85.

Miss Hood's grandparents both worked for the electricity board in Great Yarmouth when they met and married before moving to Harlow in 1957.

The couple raised three children at their homes in Parsonage Leys, The Hides, and Westfield.

They also have five grandchildren and seven great-grandchildren.

Miss Hood, who works in sales at Harlow Pinnacles, said: "My grandad was a maths expert who regularly helped me with my homework and my nan inspired my love of baking."

"It breaks my heart that I could wake up one day and be scared of my boyfriend because I don't remember who he is."

That would be the same as my nan did with the man who she had spent every day of 65 years of her life with and also as she did with her brother at a family wedding."

Miss Hood is holding a singalong to raise money for the Alzheimer's Society on Sunday at The Herald pub in Harlow.

Entry to the pub, which will be decorated gold and purple for the festive season, costs £5 for adults and £1 for children.

"Hopefully plenty of people are coming to sing their favourite tunes, whether it's independently or as a group – everyone is welcome."

"Kids are also welcome and able to join in by singing too," said Miss Hood.

Donated

There will also be face painting between 4 and 6pm, costing £3 per person, which will also be donated to the cause.

A raffle will also take place on the day.

All money raised will be donated to the Alzheimer's Society.

MAKING WAVES: Scouts from Harlow make radio contact

Scouts are on the air for World Jamboree

A HARLOW Scout group has taken part in the Discover Our World Jamboree on The Air (JOTA).

The 7th Harlow Scout Group worked with Harlow and District Amateur Radio Club for the event.

The Scouts had the opportunity to speak to more than 200 other amateur radio stations across the world.

They communicated with groups from more than 150 countries including South Africa, Greece and Belgium.

In preparation, the Scouts spent an evening learning about Morse code, the phonetic alphabet, Q-codes and radio equipment.

Radio amateurs assisted the Scouts in deciphering codes, writing messages, recognising international call signs and speaking on the radio.

Dealer in jail after trying to sell drugs

A DRUG dealer who attempted to sell heroin and cocaine in Harlow has been jailed for two years and eight months.

Sean Clayton, 28, of Barclay Road, London, pleaded guilty to possession with intent to supply the class A drugs and was sentenced at Chelmsford Crown Court on Tuesday.

Clayton was arrested by Essex Police's Operation Raptor team who saw him approach a group of known drug users in Ladyshot, Harlow, on April 18.

Officers found four mobile phones and a small bag of herbal cannabis in his Mercedes but found more drugs concealed in a package between his buttocks when they later performed a strip search.

The package contained 12 wraps of class A drugs. He was charged with one count of possession with intent to supply heroin, one count of possession of intent to supply crack cocaine and possession of cannabis.

Volunteers work to help people put food on table

Our Christmas appeal in full swing to boost vital role of foodbanks

By William Mata

william.mata@hertsessexnews.co.uk

AS REFERRALS to Foodbanks rise nationally, more volunteers and donors are coming forward to help.

In week two of Herts and Essex News' Christmas appeal, members of several Foodbanks have spoken of their motivation to help stop people going hungry.

Nationally 1.1 million people received an emergency Foodbank referral last year, which was a slight rise from the previous year. And locally, volunteers are happy to make a difference to help society's poorest.

Ray, a Baldock-based volunteer for Letchworth Foodbank, said: "I have been volunteering for a couple of years and I am here for a couple of hours a month on a rota. It is not a hardship.

Helping

"This is an organisation that can fulfil people's needs and it needs people to man the stall. It is my way of helping the community."

Howard Ward, a volunteer with Hertford and District Foodbank, said: "Any of us could face a crisis like this.

"Foodbank is a vital service giving out basic food items to people who cannot afford to put food on the table. Helping has allowed me to give back to the community where I live.

"At last week's supermarket collections there were many heartwarming examples of generosity from local people donating – we even saw young children giving their sweets to those less fortunate."

Jill Lane, from Cheshunt, who has been a volunteer at Broxbourne Foodbank since day one, said: "It is enjoyable to be part of and we have fun.

"We do what we can to help and this is all we can do, these people are in desperate need. This is on our doorstep."

Malcolm Domb, coordinator of Uttlesford Foodbank, added: "I came across the Foodbank when I had just retired and was looking for some volunteering work.

"There is a need for people who are less fortunate. People in the community are generous in giving food, there is something about giving a tin of biscuits or a Christmas pudding that makes you feel like you are doing more than giving money."

EVERY LITTLE HELPS: Members of Hertford and District Foodbank at their event in Hertford Tesco. The group collected 1,050kg of food

In the week since Herts and Essex News launched the appeal, Hertford and District Foodbank collected 1,050kg of food from customers after an appeal in Hertford Tesco store.

Uttlesford Foodbank, meanwhile, is helping to spread word of the plight of the hungry through the film I, Daniel Blake which is showing in Saffron Screen, Market Place, Saffron Walden at 8pm on Saturday and Sunday, and at 5pm on Saturday December 17 and 18.

After the Ken Loach-directed film ends a bucket will be passed around to raise funds for Foodbank.

This week Harlow Foodbank has released a list of items of items it requires.

These are: Long life fruit juice and UHT milk, tinned tomatoes, UNIQUE Hairdressing in the heart of Bishop's Stortford has a reputation for first class service and artistic flair.

The team at this friendly salon pride themselves on their ability to offer a unique hairdressing experience for both men and women and now one of the team has been selected to showcase her work across the globe.

Salon director, Anna Pelosi has been chosen by luxury hair care brand Emsibeth to take part in an international advertising campaign. Against stiff competition, she was chosen by the brand's Artistic Director to travel to Verona and create her proposal for a new trend at Emsibeth's international launch for Autumn/Winter 2016/17. She worked backstage with the international artistic team made up of hairdressers from as far afield as Australia, Spain, Italy and Greece. Francesca, who works with Anna at Unique in Bishop's Stortford, also attended the shoot. Anna's work can now be seen in salons worldwide as Emsibeth advertises a trend known as 'Cherry Wood' with promotional material for its collection called 'Lumiere Fall/Winter 2016/17'.

Details can also be seen on You Tube.

"I am bursting with pride and excitement as the collection is now unveiled," commented Anna.

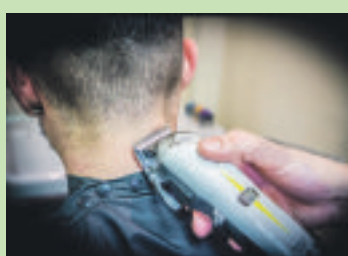

The Unique Hairdressing team in Bishop's Stortford is made up of salon owner and master colour expert, Michele Pelosi, salon director Anna Pelosi, barber Mattia Pelosi, style director, Sara Law, creative director Francesca Caparelli, as well as William Stroud and Nicole Taak.

TOUR: Dippy the diplodocus is set to go on his travels across the country, starting in 2018

Picture by the Natural History Museum

Here's a tour you're bound to be simply dippy about!

DIPPY the Diplodocus is going on tour around the country.

Dippy lives in the main hall at the entrance of the Natural History Museum in London.

Made out of 292 bones, Dippy is 21.3 metre long and 4.25 metres high and has never been on public display outside of London before yet he is now set to embark on travelling across the length and breadth of the country.

Starting in 2018, Dippy will visit a number of locations including Belfast, Glasgow, Dorset and Birmingham until 2020 when he will end his trip in Norwich.

Director of the Dorset County Museum, Dr Jon Murden, said: "We wanted Dippy to visit unusual locations so he can draw in people that may not traditionally visit a museum."

The life-size replica of a diplodocus is made out plaster and was given to the Natural History Museum by a wealthy businessman. He was originally unveiled on May 12, 1905.

SELFIE HELP: St Clare Hospice fundraisers walked 100km through rural Cambodia to raise £7,000

Trio raise £7k with jungle trek

Women walk 100km in aid of hospice

By William Mata

william.mata@hertsexnews.co.uk

THREE women walked 100km in hot and humid weather across Cambodia to raise £7,000 for St Clare Hospice.

Jade Clarke, Karen D'Aguiar and Val Foster, who all work for the Hastingwood-based charity, endured five days of early mornings, physical exertion and mental pain.

Braving temperatures of more than 30°C, the trio were part of a team of 26, fundraising for different charities, led by three Cambodian guides through valleys and low-lying plains before climbing up to Angkor Wat, the ancient capital of the Khmer Empire.

Miss Clarke, 23, of Harlow, said: "Trekking across Cambodia for St Clare was honestly the greatest achievement and experience of my life."

"It was the most amazing feeling when we crossed the finish line knowing we had fundraised an incredible amount for St Clare and having walked the equivalent of a half marathon every day for five days.

"On the very first day we came to a waterlogged swamp and the only way to get across was to take off our boots and trek barefoot."

"On day three we climbed Kulen Mountain, one of the highest in Cambodia, which was at times so steep we had to clamber on our hands and knees."

Test

"It was both a physical and a mental test of strength but one I would recommend to everyone."

"On day four we walked through thick jungle with a whole host of insects and spiders to contend with. Not being a fan of spiders, that was probably my most challenging moment."

Miss Clarke said a highlight was speaking to residents and exploring Cambodian culture. A St Clare banner now flies in a rural village after a game of football.

She added: "We saw the finish line ahead of us and Karen and I held the St Clare banner between us as we ran across the line."

"We stood and held a minute's silence on the finish line to remember those we had been trekking for and reflecting on the week."

"I was thinking about each and every one of the patients and families who I have met while working at St Clare - the brave people who were the reason behind me undertaking this challenge. It was such a moving experience."

■ St Clare Hospice is looking for volunteers to walk along the Great Wall of China in October 2017. To find out more email jade.clarke@stclarehos-pice.org.uk or call (01279) 773756.

Award for GP provider's leader

THE LEADER of GP provider Stellar Healthcare has won a prestigious award in the Health Education England Leadership Recognition Awards.

Debbie Bodhanya, CEO of Stellar Healthcare in Harlow and Epping, won the leadership award in the category of Leading Systems Transformation in a ceremony held at the Imperial War Museum in Duxford on Thursday, November 24.

Ms Bodhanya, who is also managing partner at the Limes Medical Practice in Epping, was awarded the accolade for the exceptional partnership held between herself and her team at Stellar Healthcare who work to provide the best possible patient-centred services to the people of West Essex.

Chairman of Stellar Healthcare Dr Hugh Taylor said:

WINNER: Debbie Bodhanya gets her award from Dr Tareq Abouhar

"Debbie is an outstanding asset to us and she thoroughly deserves being recognised for all her hard work and dedication."

"She is committed to delivering first-class services to patients and this award demonstrates that she is succeeding."

"I'm sure I speak for leaders across the west Essex health and care system in saying congratulations."

Stellar Healthcare is a GP provider in both Harlow and Epping which aims to represent the culture and value of GP practice in the area as well as being the voice of general practice within the system.

Over the past year it has been working to relieve some of the pressures faced at accident and emergency by running additional services including Ms Bodhanya's evening and weekend service to patients.

Star pupils shine at annual education progress awards

Record number of young people nominated for honours this year

THE educational progress of 84 young people has been recognised at the annual Harlow Educational Progress Awards.

The awards strive to identify and reward the young people making significant progress with their education and to recognise those who have made significant contributions to their schools and community.

The ceremony, which is organised by Harlow Council and the Harlow Strategic Educational Attainment Partnership, is now in its third year and this year there was a record number of nominees recognised for their efforts.

The winners collected their awards from the director of the diploma in tropical nursing, Dame Claire Bertschinger DBE, in front of a packed council chamber.

Each young person received a framed certificate and gift vouchers as a celebration of their achievement.

Trophies were also presented to the winning schools of each category.

PRIDE: Key Stage 1 and 2 winners with Dame Claire Bertschinger DBE and Harlow Council Chairman Edna Stevens

Winners between Key Stage 1 and 2 included 46 young people who claimed a variety of first, second and third place awards.

Aaron Hynd of Churchgate Street School won the accolade for outstanding progress between Key Stage 1 and 2 as well as taking the title of the overall winner of the 2016 Harlow Education Progress Awards.

Churchgate Primary School not only won the trophy for the winning school in the Key Stage 1 to 2 category but was also crowned overall winning school at the ceremony.

Eighteen young people received first, second and third place awards in the Key Stage 2 to 3 category.

Chloe Nicholson of Burnt Mill Academy was the overall winner for her outstanding progress between Key Stage 2 and 3, with her school, Burnt Mill Academy, being the overall winner of the category.

Between Key Stage 3 and 4, a total of 18 young people won awards from first to third place, with the overall winner for outstanding progress in the category being Hugo Wilson of Burnt Mill Academy.

Burnt Mill Academy was also the winning school in the Key Stage 3 to 4 category.

Outstanding

Harlow College also had their own category this year with an accolade for outstanding progression presented to Christina Saysell and apprentice of the year going to Jay Gumble.

The awards were hosted by Harlow Council's chief executive, Malcolm Morley, who set the ceremony up in 2014 and funds them through having forgone a pay raise.

Mr Morley said that he was delighted to see a "record number" of people nominated this year, "which shows how hard young people are working to learn and progress at school or college".

AT PLAY: Saram, Ryan, Harvey and Robert from The Downs Primary and Nursery School

Youngsters take pride in their culture

A HARLOW primary school celebrated diversity by holding a week-long culture event.

The Downs Primary School and Nursery, The Hides, gave children the opportunity to share and learn about different cultures represented by its pupils and staff.

Youngsters took part in singing songs, traditional and modern dances, learning words and phrases and finding out interesting facts.

There was even a world food festival where parents, carers and children were invited to taste a range of delicious dishes, all made by The Downs pupils.

The week ended with children proudly coming to school in colourful clothes that showed off their cultural heritage.

Head teacher Liz Gelston said: "The event was a wonderful success with children and adults sharing pride in their cultural experiences with others."

Students walking tall

EIGHT students from a Harlow secondary school took walking tours to whole new extreme by strolling to Buckingham Palace.

Callum Morgan, Edward Thomas, Wilson Jokonya, Louis Cousins, Aaron Strachan, Ryan Lynch, Ben Humphries and Ronny Gisbourne from Stewards Academy, Parnall Road, made the extraordinary journey to commemorate International Men's Day.

Not satisfied with their stroll to the London landmark, Callum and Edward incredibly walked back to Harlow in a return trip of almost 50 miles.

The walk was to raise money for Campaign Against Living

Miserably, a charity dedicated to preventing male suicide.

Targeting £1,000, the Year 11 boys smashed their total by reaching £1,700, with more donations still pouring in.

Deputy head Marie Erwood said: "These boys are incredible role models for all of us."

"To walk 25 miles in a day is a fabulous achievement in itself, but for Callum and Edward to complete the round trip has forged an indelible bond of friendship and it will give them a huge sense of pride for many years to come."

To support the boys with a donation go to www.justgiving.com/fundraising/Skmowalk

Setting a good example

A SCHOOL in Harlow has been commended by the regional schools commissioner at a GCSE awards evening.

Burnt Mill Academy, in First Avenue, was praised as an example for other schools to follow by Dr Tim Coulson, regional schools commissioner for the East of England and North-East London.

Burnt Mill celebrated 83 per cent of its Year 11 students achieving top marks in both English and mathematics, while the number of students receiving A* and A grades also rose by 24 per cent on last year.

Four out of five students also achieved five or more A* to C grades including English and mathematics.

Head teacher John Blaney said: "I was delighted to welcome back our class of 2016, they received some amazing results."

Celebration

"Our presentation evening was a celebration for their hard work and commitment and their resilience over the past five years."

"I know their parents were very proud of them as were all their teachers who were present to say farewell and congratulations to one of the most successful group of students we have ever had."

FREE Family Admission to the Bluewater Ice Rink

Enjoy a family day out and show off your moves on Bluewater's brand new outdoor ice rink.

CAUTION: Essex Police has made more than 1,000 arrests for drink and drug driving offences this year

Police launch crackdown on drink-drivers

Motorists who take drugs also targeted

By William Mata

william.mata@hertsessexnews.co.uk

DRINK and drug-drivers are being targeted by Essex Police in a Christmas clampdown to achieve safer roads.

Veteran officers Tracey Bishop and Al Cuthbertson are sharing experiences from their 30-year careers through the media in a bid to stop perpetrators.

In launching the Christmas anti-drink and drug-driving campaign in partnership with Safer Essex Roads Partnership, which will run until Sunday, January 1, PC Bishop said: "There are no words to describe the devastation caused by drink and drug-driving."

"Having to tell someone their loved one has been killed because a driver made the selfish decision to get behind the wheel when under the influence is the worst part of my job."

During the campaign road policing officers will patrol towns with busy night-time economies as well as rural areas where some drivers believe they have less chance of getting caught.

Cocaine

As well as breath tests they will be using drug testing kits to detect drivers under the influence of illegal drugs including cannabis and cocaine.

From January to October of this year, Essex Police arrested 1,735 people on suspicion of drink and drug-driving offences. During the same period, officers found seven per cent of those breathalysed were over the limit.

Adam Pipe, casualty reduction manager for Essex Police, said: "Christmas should be a time for celebration, however, sadly there are people who will make the decision to get behind the wheel knowing they have consumed alcohol and/or drugs and are not fit to drive."

"The images our officers see stay with them forever. They don't want to be knocking on any doors this Christmas to break the news that someone has been killed."

"We are asking everyone to do their bit to help keep the roads safe this Christmas. If you know someone who drink or drug-drives, please do the right thing and report them by calling us on 101 or Crimestoppers anonymously on 0800 555 111."

Hospital celebrates its achievements

PROGRESS in enhancing health care at Princess Alexandra Hospital has been celebrated at their annual meeting.

Staff, patients and guests were able to talk about developments within different departments including the vital care needed for people with dementia.

The newly appointed dementia support practitioner, David Page, explored the latest and innovative measures being implemented by the Harlow hospital.

This included showing guests how the 25 dementia champions have been trained across the trust and how staff are now facilitators of the virtual dementia tour, which works to highlight the fears and frustrations felt by those with dementia.

Forum

The trust has also led on the formation of the Essex dementia leads forum.

Priorities for the coming year were also announced and include palliative and end of life care as well as patient experience. Chief executive, Phil Morley, paid tribute to the hard work put in by staff saying: "We see patients from Essex and Hertfordshire from all walks of life and our staff do a tremendous job in challenging times and I know from feedback from patients that the excellent service they give is greatly appreciated."

PRAISE: Staff working for the hospital's dementia service

The hospital's maternity services were also celebrated with Princess Alexandra ranking as one of the best performing in the country, coming ninth.

Professor Nancy Fontaine, chief nurse and deputy chief executive, said: "We get hundreds of compliments about our maternity service and with the recent Baby Friendly Award we can say we offer the best care for mother and baby throughout their stay with us."

Collaboration

Speaking of the approach that PAH has towards developing its services, Marc Davis, director of Pathways and Partnerships, said: "We are entering a new era where there is less competition between services and more collaboration."

"We need to be more preventative and change how we deliver services."

"The whole health and social care system faces significant challenges and will only succeed by working more effectively together."

Show your support for hospice's work

RESIDENTS are invited to wear a Christmas jumper with pride in a fundraising initiative to support St Clare Hospice.

Staff at the Hastingwood-based charity, which offers palliative care to people with terminal and life-limiting illnesses, is encouraging the Harlow community to back National Christmas Jumper Day.

Whether you're at school, at work or simply out and about, everybody is invited to take part on Tuesday, December 13, with takings from the day being donated to St Clare.

The charity's community fundraising manager Dani De'ath said: "This year we want as many schools, local businesses and community groups as possible sporting their Christmas jumpers for St Clare. "What better way to get that warm fuzzy feeling this Christmas than by wrapping up warm in your favourite festive jumper and knowing that you are helping your local hospice?"

It costs £4million each year for the charity to provide vital services to people across West Essex and East Hertfordshire, with the majority of the money coming from public donations.

Christmas is a difficult time of year for the hospice and for those with family members under their care, with illnesses and diseases leaving some patients unable to spend Christmas with their loved ones.

Heartbreaking

Ms De'ath added: "Our patients and their families are experiencing one of life's hardest journeys and going through such a difficult moment at Christmas time can often make it all the more heartbreaking."

"Our doctors, nurses and staff will be supporting families

WRAPPED UP: Everyone is encouraged to join in with St Clare Hospice's Christmas jumper day on December 13

throughout the festive season – and of course, on Christmas Day itself – all thanks to the support and donations so generously given by our local community." For more information about

CHEQUE MATE: Harlow Running Club members with their cheque for £1,900

Running club made £1,900 for hospital

HARLOW Running Club raised £1,900 for the Princess Alexandra Hospital Charity from its annual ten-mile road race.

Just under 300 people completed the Harlow 10 back in September, with the race taking place on quiet country lanes and traffic-free cycle tracks around town.

Proceeds from the race, which will enter its 27th year in 2017, went towards supporting the hospital and the mental health charity Mind in West Essex.

Presented

Last week, the charity was presented with a cheque at the running club's headquarters at the Mark Hall Sports Centre, London Road, Harlow.

Jamie Pring, fundraising co-ordinator for the hospital, was delighted to receive the cash boost.

She said: "It's fantastic these runners achieved a total far exceeding expectations from the event."

"It's also great local organisations are beginning to realise we can all raise money for our hospital and make a difference."

Complaints as nativity play replaced with 'graduation'

School defends decision to put on substitute event for Year 2 pupils

By William Mata

william.mata@hertsessexnews.co.uk

YOUNGSTERS are "devastated" that there will be no nativity play for them this year as their school focuses on studies.

Year 2 students at Pear Tree Mead Academy, Harlow, will instead perform a summer show after finishing their key SATs tests in May.

A parent, who did not wish to be named, said: "We are all really disappointed in this decision and the children are devastated."

Upset

"It is taking away the concept of Christmas in this school, especially when they are all so young. I feel really sorry for the children."

"They are all really upset as they feel they are being punished for something. The other year groups are doing a nativity, it is just Year 2 which have had theirs cancelled."

But Christine Peden, head

NO PARTRIDGE THIS YEAR: Pear Tree Mead Academy has scrapped its Year 2 nativity play teacher of Pear Tree Mead Academy, said: "The parents were notified at the beginning of the year that children in Year 2 take part in a graduation play rather than a Christmas performance."

"This has not been announced ahead of the Christmas run-up. Considering the notice given, I have had no parents come to speak to me about their concerns of their child not taking part."

"Children are not missing out in celebrating the festivities. They get to attend the dress rehearsals of other year groups as well as making arts and crafts for the Christmas Bazaar and attend the carol service at the local church at the end of the term."

She added: "We give the privilege to Year 2 to perform a graduation play in the summer term."

"This is a special occasion of them moving from the infant stage of their education to the juniors."

Occasion

"The children thoroughly enjoy this occasion and make them feel ready for their onward journey to the upper school."

"We do have hall space constraints for our largely subscribed school and this means that rehearsal and performance time in the hall has to be planned with great consideration."

"By alleviating some year groups from the schedule helps us to fit in all of the performances, ensuring that all children still get the opportunity to showcase their talents, albeit a little later."

Hall opened by MP after £100k revamp project

COMPLETE: MP Robert Halfon (left) unveils the new-look Hastingwood village hall

HARLOW MP Robert Halfon has unveiled Hastingwood village hall's new look after its first phase of refurbishment was completed.

In an event held on Sunday, November 20, crowds gathered at the 1920s hall to see the brand new extension which offers increased storage, new toilets and disabled facilities.

New electrics were also put in place, as well as making repairs to the roof, guttering and cladding.

Phase one of the project was made possible thanks to £70,000 from North Weald Parish Council, which included £50,000 in Section 106 funds set aside for the hall from developer contributions.

A further £20,000 from Essex County Council's Community Initiatives Fund (CIF) also helped the project, along with £18,256 from the county council's Emergency Response Fund and £2,500 from Epping Forest District Council.

Amazing

Mr Halfon said: "Congratulations to the Hastingwood village hall committee, for all of their amazing hard work in raising over £100,000 – an incredible sum of money."

"The amazing new facilities this has paid for has transformed the village hall and made such a difference to local residents."

"I'd also like to thank Essex County Council, Councillor David Stallan, and North Weald Church as well for all of their support."

Essex County Councillor John Aldridge said: "I'm very proud that Essex County Council was able to support the project through its Community Initiatives Fund and I'm sure it will be greatly enjoyed by local people for many more years to come."

Since being launched ten years ago, the CIF has invested almost £20million into community projects.

The hall, which is run by the local community, is available to hire for children's parties, exercise classes and much more.

A young girl with long brown hair is captured mid-jump in a field of fallen autumn leaves. She is wearing a long-sleeved shirt with horizontal stripes in red, green, and blue, grey leggings, and blue rubber boots with a pink floral pattern. Her arms are outstretched upwards, and several leaves are suspended in the air around her, suggesting she has just tossed them. The background consists of trees with vibrant yellow and orange foliage under a clear blue sky.

ENTERTAINER: Ricky Gervais as David Brent

David Brent: Life On The Road (15)

Entertainment One, DVD £19.99/Blu-ray £24.99 or on-demand from various streaming services

It has been 12 years since David Brent (Ricky Gervais) awkwardly ruled the roost at the Slough branch of Wernham Hogg Paper Company. He's now a travelling salesman, peddling sanitary products with gusto and trading inappropriate banter with fellow salesman Nigel (Tom Bennett) and Pauline from accounts (Jo Hartley), who has a crush on him.

Brent takes unpaid leave from his unedifying day-to-day grind to pursue his dream of music stardom as lead singer of his unsigned band, Foregone Conclusion. He plunders his savings to hire a despairing road manager (Tom Basden) and a quartet of talented session musicians, including his nephew Stu (Stuart Wilkinson) on guitar. A rapper called Dom Johnson (Ben Bailey Smith) joins Foregone Conclusion to bolster the band's 'yoof' appeal as the motinuous crew embarks on a tour of venues close to the office.

David Brent: Life On The Road is a toe-curling faux documentary, peppered with uproarious one-liners and moments of skin-crawling brilliance that confirm Gervais as a master of unflattering observation. Music performances include the stand-out track Native American and a reprise of the 2013 Comic Relief song, Equality Street. Life and art are blurred in Gervais' script, which plays like a cover version of his award-winning TV series The Office, replete with a wince-inducing scene of dad dancing that is supposed to attract the fairer sex.

Without co-writer Stephen Merchant to rein in his self-indulgence behind the camera, Gervais puts his middle-aged misfit centre stage for every excruciating set piece. Consequently, some of the supporting players are thinly sketched and a gossamer thin romantic subplot is almost surplus to requirements.

Swallows And Amazons (PG)

StudioCanal, DVD £19.99/Blu-ray £24.99 or on-demand from various streaming services

While her husband is away at sea on a naval destroyer, Mrs Walker (Kelly Macdonald) spirits her four children – John (Dane Hughes), Susan (Orla Hill), Tatty (Teddie-Rose Malleson-Allen) and Roger (Bobby McCulloch) – away for the summer break to stay with farmer Mr Jackson (Harry Enfield) and his wife (Jessica Hynes). En route, the children have a close encounter with James Turner (Rafe Spall), who is being chased on their train by a man called Lazlov (Andrew Scott).

Once the brood arrives at the Jacksons' farm, the children persuade their mother to allow them to sail over to an island and camp under the stars. The youngsters disembark and discover the island has already been claimed by Nancy Blackett (Seren Hawkes) and her sister Peggy (Hannah Jayne Thorp), who call themselves the Amazons. Adapted from Arthur Ransome's beloved book, Swallows And Amazons is a charmingly old-fashioned tale of messing about on the river set in more innocent times.

Screenwriter Andrea Gibb has made a few alterations to the source text, most noticeably rechristening the central character of Titty Walker to avoid schoolboy and girl sniggers. Philippa Lowthorpe's film maintains a gentle pace, anchored by solid performances from the young cast. Enfield and Hynes provide comic relief, while Scott essays another boo-hiss villain from his expanding repertoire.

Lake District locations look glorious, even when storm clouds gather, and parents will be charmed by the nostalgia-steeped narrative and fond memories of the 1974 film adaptation that arrived soon after the rousing success of The Railway Children.

EPIC STORY: Nate Parker is the star, writer and director of The Birth Of A Nation

Flawed historical drama

The media firestorm which has engulfed Nate Parker – director, writer and leading actor of The Birth Of A Nation – casts a long shadow over his historical drama about an 1831 slave rebellion in Virginia.

The furore around a rape charge dating back to 1999, when Parker was a student at Penn State University and of which he was acquitted, has almost certainly torpedoed any chance of his individual contributions being part of the feverish Academy Awards conversations in the coming months.

Judging The Birth Of A Nation purely on its merits, the film provokes the same debates as 12 Years A Slave, albeit with less narrative sophistication and directorial brio.

Behind the camera, Parker is ruled by convention and he struggles to generate dramatic momentum that would make the two-hour running time feel less of a slog.

The Birth Of A Nation

DRAMA: (15) 120 mins

Director: Nate Parker
Starring: Nate Parker, Armie Hammer, Aja Naomi King, Jackie Earle Haley, Penelope Ann Miller, Gabrielle Union

However, in a year when the lack of diversity in the global filmmaking community has become a hot-button topic, Parker's achievements on a modest budget should not be underestimated.

In his guise as slave-turned-preacher Nat Turner, the filmmaker is far more convincing, surrounding himself with an excellent ensemble cast, who treat the harrowing subject matter with the seriousness it deserves.

Slave owner Samuel Turner (Armie Hammer) believes he is much more tolerant and understanding than many of his neighbours in Southampton County.

His God-fearing mother Elizabeth (Penelope Ann Miller) raised young Samuel with a slave boy called Nat (Parker) as his playmate, and the imposing matriarch taught Nat to read by referring him to the word of the Bible.

Nat devours every word and grows up with a belief that he must preach to his people.

He falls in love with another slave, Cherry (Aja Naomi King), but when she is brutally assaulted by a gang of white slave owners, led by snarling Raymond Cobb (Jackie Earle Haley), poor Samuel seriously questions the order of his unforgiving world.

His friend and fellow slave Hark (Colman Domingo) suffers a similar hammer blow when his wife Esther (Gabrielle Union) is ordered to provide sexual services to one of Samuel's dinner guests.

These injustices light an unquenchable fire within Nat.

"The Lord has called me – to stand and fight!" he bellows, leading a rebellion that puts Nat on a collision course with Cobb and the pro-slavery establishment.

The Birth Of A Nation is a passionate, yet clumsily conceived, rallying cry for equality, spattered with the blood and tears of men, who acknowledge that violence begets greater violence.

Parker conceives some horrifying imagery, such as Cherry's battered face after she is attacked, but he fails to elegantly weave these jolts into a fluid and constantly engaging character study.

There are noticeable lulls in the second hour and female characters are defined by their suffering, repeatedly abused in order to pour fuel on the flames of Nat Turner's supposedly righteous crusade.

MOANA (PG)

Moana Waialiki (voiced by Auli'i Cravalho) is the daughter of Chief Tui (Temuera Morrison) and has been groomed since birth to lead her people on the island of Motunui.

However, she feels a strong calling to the sea which angers her father, who believes the tropical paradise can sustain their tribe.

Moana's wise grandmother Tala (Rachel House) fills the girl's head with wild stories about the demi-god Maui, who stole the heart of the island goddess Te Fiti and lost this precious green stone during a battle with ferocious lava demon Te Ka.

The old woman encourages Moana to seek out Maui and restore Te Fiti's missing heart in order to bring prosperity to the island.

With the wind in her sail and a witty rooster called Heihei (Alan Tudyk) by her side, Moana ventures over the reef for the first time in search of Maui (Dwayne Johnson).

Moana is another solid gold hit from Disney's animation studio, marrying self-realisation and broad comedy to dizzying effect.

SULLY: MIRACLE ON THE HUDSON (12A)

On January 15, 2009, Captain Chesley Sullenberger, known affectionately as Sully, drew on years of experience to glide a stricken Airbus A320 onto New York's Hudson River in freezing conditions. Clint Eastwood's exemplary thriller, which centres on the subsequent investigation by the National Transportation Safety Board (NTSB) into Sully's actions that fateful day, is a masterclass in sustained tension, replaying events aboard US Airways Flight 1549 and from the ground, from multiple perspectives, including air traffic controller Patrick Harten (Patch Darragh) and ferry boat captain (Vince Lombardi, playing himself). This deeply human story is punctuated with different iterations of the crash landing, including chilling scenes of the Airbus plunging into skyscrapers when Sully (Tom Hanks) imagines a fruitless attempt to reach LaGuardia. The NTSB investigation led by Charles Porter (Mike O'Malley), Elizabeth Davis (Anna Gunn) and Ben Edwards (Jamey Sheridan), forms the crux and the script nimbly condenses the actual 15-month timeframe to explore the emotional strain on Sully and First Officer Skiles (Aaron Eckhart) as they defend their actions. Hanks delivers a deeply affecting, yet understated, lead performance, eliciting pathos as he contends with post-traumatic stress disorder in the eye of a media storm.

Alternative Christmas party at the Square

WITH local musicians and silly hats there is no more unique place to celebrate Christmas than at The Square.

The venue in Fourth Avenue, Harlow, will welcome a (not so heavenly) host of artists for their annual Christmas Eve Party to provide an alternative to carols and candles.

This year will see Pete Doff from punk band Antibodies performing Winter Wonderland as well as Mitch and Stu from PennyRoyal doing their best John and Yoko impersonation to perform Happy Xmas (War Is Over).

For their seventh Christmas Eve bash a live band made up of The Square's management and friends will play a set of festive favourites.

Another highlight will be Sam Ashford covering Chris Rea's Driving Home For Christmas but, as ever, there will be plenty of surprises and special guests in store.

Adam Smith, part of The Square's management, may or may not be part of the house band.

He said: "We have run the event for the past six years and it has proved each time to be one of the most popular nights of the year.

"The first year we played nine Christmas songs and had Chas Hodges (one half of Chas and Dave) play as a special guest. We ran with a Christmas Top Of The Pops format top ten with our own host.

"We now do two separate one hour sets, the bulk of which is made up of the best performances from the previous year, with a few new surprise additions.

"It is a mammoth task to organise, as we can have around 15 different vocalists to organise rehearsals with whilst refreshing our own memories and learning new songs.

"It is hard to get everyone in the Christmas spirit ahead of December so this year will be the usual last minute rush brushing up on lyrics and guitar licks.

"There is never any doubt though that it will all come together as everyone works really hard to put on a great show, so if you find it hard to get into the Christmas spirit yourself, this is the best place to be on Christmas Eve as no one leaves without a smile on their face."

■ Tickets for the bash cost £8 in advance and can be bought online from www.thesquareharlow.com

FESTIVE FUN: Adam Smith performs at The Square in seasonal attire

A date with Barbara

OLIVIER AWARD winner and multi-million selling recording artist, Barbara Dickson OBE, is coming to the Harlow Playhouse.

In 2017, Barbara is embarking on a 21 date UK tour starting on Wednesday, February 1.

The Scottish singer will appear at the Harlow Playhouse on Thursday, February 9 when she will perform a mix of new and classic songs.

Barbara Dickson rose to fame through the Scottish Folk Revival of the 1960s and became the biggest selling Scottish female artist of all time.

She is best known for her 1970s and 80s hits including Answer Me and I Know Him So Well.

As an actress, she has starred in award winning theatre shows including Blood Brothers and Spend, Spend, Spend.

Alongside her tour, Barbara Dickson OBE, is preparing to release her new EP which will have five new songs.

Cafe bar offers inclusive, creative space at the Playhouse

THE NEW Café Bar at Harlow Playhouse has opened the town's premier theatre to a new audience.

The inclusive space in the Playhouse Square venue opened last month, offering punters the chance to catch up over a coffee and snack as well as see art and book tickets.

Scott Ramsay, theatre director, said: "This innovative social space in the town really is there for people to use how they want.

"There are no time limit pressures and people are encouraged to stay and interact with the space, whether it be for business or leisure."

The Café Bar boasts a children's area with books to read and DVDs to watch in a mini cinema. There is also a working area designed for meetings.

The venue is also breastfeeding friendly while all food is supplied by Mayfield Farm Bakery, who provide a varied menu with gluten-free options and healthy meals.

It is open on Harlow Playhouse's first floor on Monday to Saturday from 10.30am to 5.30pm, and one hour before any performance.

Additionally the Café Bar can be booked for functions and children's parties.

GOALS: Mandie launches her book

How to win at life

MANDIE Holgate said her new non-fiction book shows how your personal and office life are more interconnected than you might think.

The 43-year-old mother of two, who lives in Mersea Island, has an inspiring personal story that has seen her overcome severe depression to become a successful car dealer and found The Business Woman's Network – a group which has recently started a branch in Harlow.

Her book Fight The Fear: How To Beat Your Negative Mindset And Win At Life allows her more creative side to shine and help inspire anyone to achieve personal and professional goals.

"I have always loved writing ever since I was five years old," said Mandie, who also works as a business coach and gives training in skills such as public speaking.

"The publisher Pearson found my blog and loved what I did. I have always loved writing and it turns out I am good at it as I got the deal."

The book was launched last month and is now available from Amazon and leading book retailers.

She explains: "It deals with the biggest fears that impact on our lives and how to overcome them. For example, worrying about what people are thinking about you is something that can impact on your work and home life.

"People are also never able to take time away from the office. In Europe we British work some of the longest hours but we have some of the lowest productivity levels.

"We set goals with our careers but we should also set goals with our family life. Some people set goals that they do not want, but goals that other people think we want, like owning a Ferrari.

"Blending corporate and personal lives is something we should all aim to do more."

Project launched to bring gig virgins into local venues putting on live music

TAKING PART: The Square, Harlow Photo: Enrol Djamel

THE Square's management has announced the Fourth Avenue centre's inclusion in Independent Venue Week 2017.

From January 23 to 29 the national event will unite 120 venues across the country in the initiative supported by Arts Council England.

The project is designed to bring in gig virgins into their local concert hall for the first time to support independent music.

Full details have yet to be announced but at least one special event will be held at Harlow's most famous music venue The Square.

Tim Burgess, frontman of The Charlatans, is the ambassador for the 2017 edition and follows in the footsteps of Frank Turner and Radiohead's Colin Greenwood.

Tim said: "Independent venues are where every band starts and where music fans get to see emerging talent.

"Without them bands would not get a chance for their all-important first hometown gigs and subsequent tours.

"These venues and bands need our support and the best way you can do that is by having a night out. Lots of venues are closing so we definitely need to stick together and stop this happening."

The Square will post all the latest information about Independent Venue week here: www.thesquareharlow.com

....We come highly recommended....

"First Class Service!! Sold our property in two days and kept us calm whenever problems arose. We couldn't ask for a better service and a helping hand throughout a notoriously difficult experience. Special thanks to Sonny for his professionalism and Claire for being so helpful and caring, Thanks a million guys."

"Very respectful and professional, could not have asked for a better company to sell our house. Would only use Reyland and Johnson if we ever move again. Coleen & Paul"

"Thanks for everything you have done in making our house sale go so smoothly and for always being on the other end of a phone when we needed you. Julia x"

"Thank you so much for dealing with our sale professionally and most importantly quickly. Also with putting up with us for being the slowest people in the world at returning forms! Thanks again Jen & Jon"

"Thank you very much for your assistance with my purchase. I would definitely recommend Reyland Johnson to my family and friends. Excellent Service :) Diem"

"Fantastic estate agents !!! 5 star, I would highly recommend Ben & James, highly professional, and they always keep you updated, they are truly amazing. Thank you both. Louise"

"We cannot thank sonny enough, he delivered on every promise he made. He was on the ball all the time. We have no hesitation with recommending them, thank you. Kay"

"Top job from these guys. Not only sold our home in record time, but found our new family home. Couldn't be happier with the service they provided. Andy"

"Excellent Estate Agents, very hard working, always available to take a call and replied to any emails promptly. Very happy with the service and would definitely use again on any further sales. Cheers guys! Roger"

"A big thank you to James, Ben and the team. Sold our home and completed within 12 weeks of going to market. Supportive and empathetic in what can be a very stressful time, they delivered what they promised. Well done and thanks once again. Love Sue"

New VW Amarok picks up the pace

By Patrick James

Describing Volkswagen's elegant new Amarok as a pick-up truck does not really do the vehicle justice.

Yes, it performs like the best of pick-ups, but adds a dash of style with a premium, upmarket feel, which also attracts a premium, upmarket price.

In its own way, it is a form of crossover vehicle, the double cab having the classy feel of VW cars with their comfort and driveability, combined with genuine off-road capability through its 4MOTION all-wheel drive, one-tonne plus carrying capacity and the capability of towing heavy trailers with ease.

That, in some ways, is the point of these new generation pick-ups. They are as much a lifestyle statement as workhorse. Capable of fulfilling both roles and looking equally impressive on the company car park, outside the school gates or transporting the surfboard to the beach.

First seen on UK roads, dirt tracks, forests and farmland in 2011, VW decided it was time for a bit of a revamp.

Trouble is, when you have what is a winning formula, the danger is spoiling it. You know, if it ain't broke, don't fix it.

Well the German giant knows a thing or two about vehicles and how to extend and improve the life of established vehicles – see Passat, Golf, Polo et al.

So the firm went about making some minor and some major changes, including the new three litre V6 diesel power unit.

The already-stylish exterior has been tweaked with new front bumper and radiator grille design including front fog lights, new alloy wheels and a third brake light with LED technology.

Available at launch only and limited to 240 models is the Aventura edition tested here adds 19-inch alloy wheels with 255/55 wide tyres and arch extensions, bi-xenon headlights with integrated LED daytime running lights, and chrome sill bars with integrated LED lighting to illuminate the exit area. Tons of kit but with a price tag of just short of £40,000 if VAT is included.

Inside there has been a more comprehensive facelift. An all-new dash panel design incorporates Volkswagen's MIB infotainment system with touchscreen, radio, navigation and new technology including the option of Guide & Inform, Car-Net and App-Connect systems. Bluetooth and DAB digital radio are also now standard features.

There is plenty of room for five adults with masses of head and legroom. In addition there are cubby holes and storage bins for extra practicality.

If it was not for the sturdy plastic finish, really a necessity in this type of vehicle, rather than the soft touch trim finish, you could mistaken for thinking you were in an executive car.

While looking at it stylish lines and gleaming exterior, you might feel guilty for getting it dirty, but beneath all the glitz and comfort is a true workhorse.

It retains the previous Amarok's dimensions at 5.25m long, 2.23m wide and 1.83m high. Its load area means it can still accommodate a Euro pallet sideways and its payload ranges from 1,112 to 1,154 kg, with a gross vehicle weight from 3,080 to 3,290 kg. Importantly The Amarok comes as standard with four load lashing rings fitted in each corner of the cargo bed as standard.

So it can carry most loads of all shapes and sizes and the towing capability of 3,100kg braked and 750kg unbraked, means if there is an overflow of goods, you can stow and tow them in the trailer. The tow bar load is up to 140 kg.

The beating heart of the beast is the new, powerful diesel. It replaces the old two litre unit, with little effect on economy or CO2 emissions, while delivering loads of grunt and torque. The EU6-compliant unit is the only six-cylinder model in the segment and has three power outputs.

The range topper has 224ps and 550 Nm of torque channelled through its standard eight-speed automatic gearbox, giving a top speed of 119 mph and a 0 to 62 mph time of 8.0 seconds. There is a 204ps unit mated with the auto box which will also be available with a six speed manual box, as will a 165ps engine in 2017.

The fuel-saving BlueMotion Technology modifications includes a stop/start system and an energy recuperation system. Claimed economy is decent with 36.2mpg combined run and CO2 emissions of 204g/km.

It is hugely capable offroad and a tough, muddy, forest off-road route proved little problem as the four-wheel drive hi-tech wizardry, descent control and hill hold dealt with tricky forest conditions with ease.

The model line-up coming through will be Startline, Trendline and Highline with other special editions allowing customers to customize to their heart's content. All three variants have an electronic differential lock (EDL) by automatic application of the brake, which prevents the wheels spinning on one side. Thanks to the EDL, the power from the drive system is always delivered to the wheel with the best traction.

All models have 4MOTION four-wheel drive and heavy duty suspension to cope with the heavy loads.

Despite its off-road and carrying capability, the VW is a remarkably refined vehicle on the road, where it is likely to spend a lot of its time.

The V6 purrs along and delivers hard acceleration when required, hitting 60mph in just eight seconds. Slow down again as the engine is barely audible on tickover.

The cab is remarkably quiet with less wind noise than a premium SUV is was driving, however the large tyres means road noise is quite intrusive.

The new Amarok prices start from £27,125 OTR excluding VAT. The total on road price for the Aventura model is £32,965 or £39,385 inclusive of VAT.

UTTLESFORD DISTRICT COUNCIL
ICT Infrastructure Support Analyst
Salary £26,556 - £29,033 per annum
(depending upon relevant experience)

Uttlesford is a thriving, predominantly rural district with excellent links to London to the south and the historic city of Cambridge to the north, as well as an international airport at Stansted. Its picturesque market towns and villages provide residents and tourists with a wide variety of shops, restaurants, cafes and attractions. Together with its excellent schools, wide open spaces, historic environment and thriving communities, both new development and an historic and rural environment existing in harmony, Uttlesford is often cited as offering the best quality of life in the UK.

We require an Infrastructure Support Analyst to join our Support Team. The post holder must have comprehensive experience of VM ware, Citrix and MS Exchange, preferably 2016.

Ideally you will have experience of working in an ITIL environment.

As a member of the Infrastructure Team you will also be given the opportunity to be part of the numerous ICT projects that are undertaken by the council each year.

In your application you should demonstrate that you are the person we seek by giving evidence that you meet the requirements of the post.

For an informal discussion about this post, please contact Alan Mose Service Delivery Manager on 01799 510520.

If you are interested in this post, please telephone our 24 hour recruitment answerphone quoting reference GIC001/1004 on 01799 510666 for an application form and information pack, or alternatively visit our website at www.uttlesford.gov.uk to download an application form.

The closing date for completed applications is Tuesday, 20 December by 12 Noon. Interviews are intended to be held week beginning 2 January 2017.

CVs will not be accepted

We positively welcome applicants from all sections of the community

Langham Oaks Outreach Provision (LOOP) and Harlow Education Consortium (HEC)

PART-TIME TUTORS REQUIRED AS SOON AS POSSIBLE

Salary: £20 - £35 per hour (contact time only)
+ mileage, depending upon qualifications and experience

We are seeking qualified Teachers, Teaching Assistants, HLTAs, Learning Mentors or Tutors with SEN experience to undertake 1:1 or small group tutoring work with primary age pupils. This will be in a Harlow community setting or occasionally in the home. These primary pupils are on reduced school timetables and need additional tuition, are on long-term fixed term exclusions, are experiencing some problems in mainstream school or may not be in any school as they are awaiting a school place.

You will be expected to develop a good rapport with pupils in order to support them so will have an understanding of SEN, be dynamic and proactive, with strong behaviour management, having had previous experience of working with pupils with challenging behaviour. There will be a requirement to plan lessons and activities.

We are looking for applicants to be able to work at least three days a week and for at least three hours a day - however this is negotiable.

YOUR STARS WITH

ARIES MARCH 21 - APRIL 20

It's going to be all too easy for you to say the first thing that comes into your head. Don't! A pushy mood which Mars is placing on you could see you saying things I know you will come to regret. Focus on the positive things you started work on as you entered December. They're the key to you feeling like you're back in the driving seat again! Ring now so I can reveal all I see.

FOR WEEKLY AND MONTHLY READINGS CALL 0911 8532 348 65p per minute

TAURUS APRIL 21 - MAY 21

The very signs you thought were not on your side are in fact the ones who can help you make that all important crossover in your career. A financial decision you need to make should be left until you've talked to those who would have to be involved, rather than just third parties. It's the key to your success. Ring to hear why this is a great week to cement your best plans yet for Christmas.

FOR WEEKLY AND MONTHLY READINGS CALL 0911 8532 349 65p per minute

GEMINI MAY 22 - JUNE 21

There is a serious air about your chart which may make it hard for you to adopt the laid back attitude which many of the signs require at this time of year. Be open to change and try not to box yourself in. Make decisions only with a positive heart and frame of mind. I know you have what it takes to make the most out of life. Ring now so I can set you on your successful journey.

FOR WEEKLY AND MONTHLY READINGS CALL 0911 8532 350 65p per minute

CANCER JUNE 22 - JULY 22

I know you feel as if the odds have been stacked against you, but that's because you weren't feeling strong enough to fight back. You are now though, and I see from your stars that even impossible dreams can come true this festive month. Going over monetary figures and documents you may skip through can bring good news financially. Ring now for more on your Christmas line up.

FOR WEEKLY AND MONTHLY READINGS CALL 0911 8532 351 65p per minute

LEO JULY 23 - AUGUST 23

There are some really strong characters about this week who can make or break the tone of the days ahead. Try to keep away from those you know just want to emotionally manipulate you. Surrounding yourself with those who encourage you is the key to your success. New attractions are around the corner. Call now to hear which sign I think is worthy of you.

FOR WEEKLY AND MONTHLY READINGS CALL 0911 8532 352 65p per minute

VIRGO AUGUST 24 - SEPTEMBER 22

You are listening too much to what other people think you should do and not enough to what your own heart is telling you. Old friends get in contact and you should accept their invitations. It's the key to you feeling the best version of you again. Deliveries of goods and letters get you excited about the Christmas season. Ring now. This festive season can be your best.

FOR WEEKLY AND MONTHLY READINGS CALL 0911 8532 353 65p per minute

LIBRA SEPTEMBER 23 - OCTOBER 23

You have been trying to convince yourself you want something or someone which just isn't right for you. Try to take a step back this week and look at the bigger picture. You'll soon see that by simplifying your life, you'll feel a whole lot more fulfilled. Time spent with Gemini helps you get into the festive spirit. Ring now to hear why it's worth keeping an open diary for New Years Eve.

SCORPIO OCTOBER 24 - NOVEMBER 21

I know you are yearning for a time gone by, but it's the future which has the most to offer. Try not to let a maudlin start to December make you lose sight of the bigger picture. Life is what you make it my friend, so make your count. Contact from people far from away gives you reason to get more excited about this Christmas than most. Ring now and I'll tell you a romantic secret.

FOR WEEKLY AND MONTHLY READINGS CALL 0911 8532 355 65p per minute

SAGITTARIUS NOVEMBER 22 - DECEMBER 20

Try not to listen to idle gossip, but wait for the cold hard facts. You of all signs should know what it's like to have people make groundless observations. Giving others the benefit of the doubt can earn you an important new friendship which can open all manner of exciting doors in your life. Ring now to hear why it's so worth giving younger faces more of your free time.

CAPRICORN DECEMBER 21 - JANUARY 20

Get rid of that stubborn mood you've been experiencing by focusing on what can be done and who is willing to be helpful and not hinder your progress. If not, you'll end up ruining what should be a really social and enjoyable end to a hard year. You've come a long way my friend and what you should be doing now is working on the new chapter you've begun. Ring now and I'll help you.

FOR WEEKLY AND MONTHLY READINGS CALL 0911 8532 357 65p per minute

AQUARIUS JANUARY 21 - FEBRUARY 19

There is a really flirtatious feel to your chart this week which could see you encouraging a variety of different characters into your life. Just remember that, although you're a fun sign, you also like to think long term, so don't encourage those you know will only be a page of your story and not a whole chapter, or even the book. Ring now so we can talk about those recent mixed emotions.

FOR WEEKLY AND MONTHLY READINGS CALL 0911 8532 358 65p per minute

PISCES FEBRUARY 20 - MARCH 20

There is a lot that will be revealed this week, which will explain why certain clues have been acting in such a strange fashion. Try not to ask too many questions, but just show those around you the emotional support I know they're going to be needing. It's the key to them finding the confidence to open up to you. Ring now to hear why city or even country moves could soon be on.

Jet-setting runners complete tough four day event

SEVEN Harlow Running Club members travelled to Lanzarote to compete in the gruelling International Challenge.

The event consisted of four races in four days in the heat of the Canary Islands, and five of them managed to complete all of the races.

Day one was the multi-terrain

10k adventure run. Darren Tiley finished in 40min 38sec, Rick Ricketts in 41:15, Martyn Coulter in 42:44, Steve Mackenzie in 42:49, Steve Ambrose in 44:02, Debbie Barry in 51:16 and Louise Cootes in 53:51.

Day two was the equally testing off-road 13k ridge run. Ricketts finished in 1hr 01min 54sec, Mackenzie in 1.03:02, Tiley in 1.04:15, Coulter in 1.05:34, Ambrose in 1.09:33 and Cootes in 1.21:54.

Day three was the 5k beach run on soft sand. Ricketts finished in 22:38, Coulter in 22:46, Tiley in 22:49, Mackenzie in 23:48, Ambrose in 24:29, Barry in 29:47 and Cootes in 31:08.

Day four was an off road half marathon consisting of two laps around a local volcano. Ricketts finished in 68th place out of 171 finishers in 1.38:32, Tiley 75th in 1.39:48, Mackenzie 86th in 1.42:56, Coulter 105th in 1.47:19 and Ambrose 118th in 1.51:28.

The overall finishing positions for those that completed all the events were; Ricketts 55th out of 154 finishers in 3.44:18, Tiley 60th in 3.47:28, Mackenzie 73rd in 3.52:35, Coulter 84th in 3.58:21 and Ambrose 98th in 4.09:30.

Meanwhile at the Bedford Half Marathon, Colin Moody finished in a credible 310th place out of 978 finishers and third Vet 65 in 1.42:52.

IN BRIEF

Rugby boost for the town

RUGBY UNION: Little Scrummers, which focuses on getting children between the ages of two and six involved in the sport, is coming to Harlow in January.

The organisation sees children take part in hour-long sessions of tag rugby every week, and has gone from strength to strength since it was introduced in 2009.

It will be run in conjunction with Harlow Rugby Club and more than 50 children have already signed up for the free trial on January 7.

The first four months of sessions will take place at Harlow Leisurezone before they move outside and train at the rugby club's new ground.

Parents are involved in the younger age groups and are encouraged to stay, watch and spend time with their children.

England Sevens player John Brake said: "I think Little Scrummers is a brilliant way to introduce your child into the world of activity."

"Through the sport of rugby, children can enjoy making new friends whilst learning and being introduced to teamwork, agility, catching and passing."

"This is all underpinned by enjoyment and exercise, which in this day and age couldn't be more important."

"It's never too early to start and begin the exciting journey of exercise through the wonderful sport of rugby."

Anyone who wants their children to get involved should visit the website www.littlescrummers.com and book a free trial.

Ricketts' goal inspires side

HOCKEY: Rowena Ricketts scored her first goal of the season as Harlow Ladies' first team notched a 2-1 victory against Waltham Forest.

Harlow were one point ahead of their opposition before the start of the game, and are now fourth in the Essex Women's Hockey League Division One table with one match to go before the Christmas break.

Harlow's back three were the busiest players on the pitch. Sam Care and Anita Shearman both cleared efforts off the line and Jo Chambers defended bravely throughout.

The winner was scored by the league's top goalscorer Liz Green from a well worked short corner.

Green's tally is now up to phenomenal 27 goals in 12 games, which is 18 more than her nearest rival.

Harlow finish off the first half of the season with a trip to Wapping next Saturday.

England boss to coach kids

RUGBY: A group of Year 9 students from Passmores Academy will enjoy a training session with England Rugby coach Eddie Jones today.

They will watch the Varsity match between Cambridge and Oxford at Twickenham, before their skills session.

PE teacher, Jack Elston said: "It's an amazing opportunity for the pupils to train with Eddie Jones. I must say I am extremely jealous of them!"

Golden finish to 2016 for new triathlon star

Now Kai wants to emulate the Brownlee brothers

By Matt Storey

matt.storey@hertssexnews.co.uk

PASSMORES Academy student Kai Boggon has finished his stellar year with a superb triathlon victory in Dubai.

Competing in the 2XU triathlon in the Middle East, the 13-year-old battled 77 other competitors and the searing heat to win by a massive 26 seconds.

His father, Richard, admitted that the teenager's ultimate aim is to emulate Alistair and Jonny Brownlee, Team GB's Olympic medallists.

He said: "One day his dream would be to compete for Great Britain at the top level and follow the Brownlees."

"All of his coaches say they are more than willing to give Kai the tools to achieve his dreams, as long as he puts the effort in and keeps achieving the great results."

"Kai puts his achievements this year down to hard work and the great coaching he has received from Jared Bethell at JB Fitness and John Stow and Richard Thurston from Woodford Green and Essex Ladies AC."

"He is already getting ready for 2017 and looking forward to hopefully competing in the National Schools Triathlon Championships."

"He has just trained so hard this year and the results show what you can do if you set your mind and body to it."

The 2XU triathlon took place at the end of October and saw the youngster spend his half term training out in Dubai and acclimatising to the temperatures.

FURNACE Kai Baggon battles searing temperatures to win gold in Dubai matising to the temperatures.

He competed in the Super Sprint category, which sees competitors swim for 400m, cycle for 10km and run for 2.5km.

There were competitors from all over the world, including Germany, Australia and Malaysia, but Kai did not let that faze him in the toughest race of his career so far.

The swim took place in water that was over 30 degrees before completing the bike and running sections in temperatures close to 40 degrees.

His time of 30min 40sec has seen him earn automatic qualification for the second race of the series, on January 4. It is once again being held in Dubai.

When Richard explains his son's training regime, it is not hard to see why he beats athletes much older than him.

"Kai trains around seven or eight times a week," explained Richard.

"He runs three or four times a week and has three swimming sessions."

"Two early sessions with a local swimming club and then one morning with a personnel swimming coach to concentrate on his freestyle, as that is the main stroke he needs in the triathlon."

"Then he has one session with his conditioning coach, Jared, who works on his inner core and endurance."

"So by the time Friday comes he has a well deserved rest before competing over the weekend!"

He has also competed in the East and South East Region's Triathlon Series in the U15 category, finishing the series second overall after finishing in the top three in every race.

Kai also took part the SuperTri Children's, Youth and Junior Open Water Triathlon at Eton Dorney, Berkshire.

He was part of the leading group after the swim and produced his best cycling performance of the year.

Mechanical

After pulling out a three minute lead on the first lap, he suffered a massive mechanical failure with 600m to go as one of his pedals broke and Kai also fell off the bike.

Using only one pedal he managed to finish the course, but lost the huge lead he had gained. Again, he showed great determination and managed to gain a 30 second lead to win the race.

On top of all of this, Kai has continued running for Woodford Green and Essex Ladies AC and entered the Essex Cross Country Championships.

He was second in the U15 section, just four seconds behind the winner, and was selected to run for both Essex and Cambridgeshire at the inter-counties cross country championships, but has chosen to compete for Cambs.

Comeback victory for Hawks

Ryman Premier
AFC Sudbury	1
Harlow Town	2

A SECOND half comeback ensured Harlow Town left AFC Sudbury with all three points on Saturday.

Craig Pope's header and an own-goal from Sudbury defender Aidan Austin proved the difference, after James Barker gave the hosts an early lead.

David Hughes was forced into a smart, low save inside the first five minutes, but Sudbury took the lead soon after.

Sam Bantick and James Barker played a neat one-two, and Barker made the most of the space to fire past Hughes.

Jared Small hit the side netting with an effort from a tight-angle, whilst Joe Benjamin caused problems down the left side, but Marcus Garnham was quick off his line to deny the winger.

Robert Eagle then missed a glorious chance to double the home side's lead, firing wide with the goal at his mercy.

Ryan Melaugh, making his first appearance since suffering a shoulder injury in pre-season, missed a good chance before Small was denied by Garnham.

With just over 20 minutes left, skipper Craig Pope met Melaugh's ball in and nodded the ball home.

They completed the turnaround ten minutes later as Small's cross from the right was headed into his own net by Austin.

Sudbury almost pulled level late on when Austin's bending effort hit the post with Hughes well beaten and Stryus Gordon cleared the follow-up off the line.

The result means the Hawks are ninth in the Ryman Premier League table.

They were knocked out of the Essex Senior Cup on Tuesday night at Tilbury.

The game ended 0-0, with the hosts prevailing 6-5 in the penalty shoot-out.

'We'll respect but not fear Eastleigh'

Hawks boss ready to take on National League side

By Matt Storey

matt.storey@hertsexnews.co.uk

DANNY CHAPMAN believes there will be a fine line between respect and fear when they host National League side Eastleigh in the FA Trophy first round at the Harlow Arena on Saturday.

The Spitfires have a team full of experienced ex-Football League players, but Chapman does not expect his side to let that overawe them and believes Harlow can take heart from some of last week-end's FA Cup upsets.

It will be a Hawks side full of confidence as well, although they were knocked out of the Essex Senior Cup by Tilbury on Tuesday night, they picked up an important Ryman Premier win at AFC Sudbury on Saturday.

Fine line

"What we're going to need is every one of our players to be on top of their game and we probably need a few of theirs to be off their own games," admitted Chapman.

"There is a fine line between respect and fear; and the one thing we won't do is fear them.

"They've got some excellent players. All of them are league players really. We've never said it's not going to be a difficult game but with a new manager [Martin Allen] coming in, he'll be trying to put his stamp on things and we're looking forward to it. We want to win the game."

Chapman admitted that Ryan Melaugh could well be given a first 11 spot for Saturday's game, after making his first start of the season at Sudbury since returning from a shoulder injury picked up in pre-season, and then following it up with a full 90 minutes against Tilbury.

The manager was full of admiration for the way he has conducted himself over the last few months.

He added: "I'm pleased that he played well, but I am more pleased for him as a player. You do get some players, unfortunately, who are out injured for periods at a time and they don't do enough work off the pitch to make sure that they come back with a decent fitness level.

"Ryan is there week in, week out, running and doing bits whenever he can and that showed on Saturday, it's good for everyone.

"If his first game had been last night then you're looking at a couple of weeks maybe, but, because of the fitness levels he's shown and the performance levels he's shown, he's definitely in contention for a starting place on Saturday."

Amidst the excitement of the tie, Chapman spoke last week about the need for more people to come out and support the town's football club.

"We have had quite a lot of phone calls from people enquiring about the cost of a ticket and things like that," Chapman added. "Hopefully we'll get 500-600 people at the game."

Boxing club set to thrive with new deal

COACH Paul Allen is hopeful that Harlow Amateur Boxing Club's new sponsorship deal with local removals company, Happy Moves, can see the club continue to grow in the coming years.

The Ladysshot-based club are the only club in Harlow to be registered with England Boxing, and are run entirely by volunteers.

The club has been running for more than 35 years and have been at their Momples Road home since the early 1980s.

"We have kept our admission fees as low as possible over the years and we still wish to keep these prices down," explained Allen.

"The club has lots of male and female boxers, starting with children as young as nine.

"We have a number of talented, up and coming local boxers in our ranks and former club boxers from those early years who are now coaching and keeping the club in a strong and healthy position.

"As the club is self-supported, the only income that the we have been receiving is on the door entries from all the people who use our gym.

Re-examined

"All of our staff are volunteers, the coaches are all qualified to English Boxing standards and have to be re-examined periodically.

"All the other staff we have also need safety checks and when you factor in first aid, boxing gloves and training equipment, which has to be replaced regularly to keep up to date with the latest safety checks, this all comes at a cost to the club.

"The directors of Happy Moves, Rob and brother Steve Fry, both agreed that the club was a great thing for the youth and adults of the Harlow community, and to keep it in a good financial position is their objective.

"It's a tremendous early season boost and we are hoping to be in further talks with Happy Moves in the New Year to possibly sponsor our kit and the gym area.

"Rob and Steve are very keen to move on with this, and their support is fantastic, it really is."

The club is open every night from 6.45pm to all.
